MEMORANDUM FOR [REDACTED] Inspector General, Headquarters, FORCES
Command, ATTN: AFCG-IG, Building 200, 1777 Hardee Avenue, SW, Fort McPherson, GA
30330

SUBJECT: Office of Special Counsel Whistleblower Investigation

1. Enclosed find a letter from the United States Office of Special Counsel (OSC), dated November 22, 2006 (Encl 1), referring to the Secretary of the Army whistleblower allegations that [REDACTED] Primary Inspector General, XVIII Airborne Corps and Fort Bragg, breached his duty and violated his ethical obligations as an Inspector General by delaying, hindering, or failing to order investigations into officers of similar rank. The Office of the Inspector General, on behalf of the Secretary of the Army, has been asked to investigate the allegations and prepare a report of the findings for submission to OSC (Encl 2).

2. You are hereby appointed to investigate and prepare a report of your findings for my signature. The report requirements are set forth at Title 5, United States Code, Sections 1213(c) and (d). Submit your report to me as soon as possible, but not later than 8 January 2007. Furnish the draft report in both hard copy and electronic versions, together with a hard copy of any supporting documents. Refer to OSC's letter, dated November 22, 2006 (Encl 1) for a detailed discussion of the issues you must investigate. Ensure that the report provides a thorough understanding of the facts and circumstances surrounding each allegation. Your findings will, at a minimum answer the following questions:

a. Did [REDACTED] follow the requirements of AR 20-1 regarding reprisal allegations raised by [REDACTED]? Specifically, did [REDACTED] improperly order the case closed to protect [REDACTED] brigade commander, [REDACTED]

b. Did [REDACTED] fail to properly investigate [REDACTED] possible whistleblower reprisal allegation against [REDACTED] as required by AR 20-1?

c. Did [REDACTED] improperly delay an investigation into [REDACTED] alleged physical assault of [REDACTED] and his alleged inappropriate relationship with a female staff sergeant?

d. Did [REDACTED] improperly fail to investigate the allegation that [REDACTED] knew about [REDACTED] misconduct and covered up [REDACTED] complaint?

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

Dissemination is prohibited except as authorized by AR 20-1.

e. Did [REDACTED] improperly delay investigating an allegation that [REDACTED] [REDACTED] condoned the wrongful consumption of alcohol while his unit was deployed to Louisiana?

3. All witness statements should be sworn. An IO is authorized to administer oaths pursuant to UCMJ, Article 136(b)(4). The report should make specific findings and recommendations regarding the matters outlined in paragraph 2. The findings must be supported by substantial evidence and be greater in weight than evidence that supports any different conclusion. If there is conflicting evidence, the report must indicate which evidence was most credible and why.

4. Contact me through the DAIG Legal Office if you require an extension. Any such request must reach me before 8 January 2007.

5. If, in the course of your investigation, you suspect any person subject to the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ) has engaged in criminal misconduct, advise that person of his or her rights pursuant to UCMJ, Article 31(b), before asking any questions. You will use a DA Form 3881 to advise such suspects of their Article 31(b) rights. Consult with the legal advisor on this issue. If you suspect any individual has engaged in criminal misconduct, report that fact to me immediately.

6. Your legal advisor for this investigation is [REDACTED] DAIG Legal Division, 703-601-1093.

Re: OSC File Nos. DI-06-1645 and DI-06-1904

Dear Mr. Secretary:

Pursuant to my responsibilities as Special Counsel, I am referring to you a whistleblower disclosure that alleges a serious breach of the duty and ethical obligation of Inspectors General to be "honest brokers and consummate fact finders" and to serve as an "extension of the ... conscience of the commander."¹ In particular, the whistleblowers, Deputy Inspector General Ronald Mansfield and Assistant Inspector General Emmitt Robinson,² allege that Colonel James Huggins, XVIII Airborne Corps and Fort Bragg Inspector General (IG), United States Department of the Army, XVIII Airborne Corps and Fort Bragg Office of the Inspector General (OIG), Fort Bragg, North Carolina, breached his duty and violated his ethical obligations as Inspector General by arbitrarily and capriciously delaying, hindering, or failing to order investigations into his colleagues of similar rank. These actions, the whistleblowers contend, not only demonstrate an abuse of authority, but also violate the procedural regulations designed to ensure due process and impartial investigation found in Army Regulation 20-1, Inspector General Activities and Procedures.

The U.S. Office of Special Counsel (OSC) is authorized by law to receive disclosures of information from federal employees alleging violations of law, rule, or regulation, gross mismanagement, gross waste of funds, an abuse of authority, or a substantial and specific danger to public health or safety. 5 U.S.C. § 1213(a) and (b). As Special Counsel, if I find, on the basis of the information disclosed, that there is a substantial likelihood that one of these conditions exists, I am required to advise the appropriate agency head of my findings, and the agency head is required to conduct an investigation of the allegations and prepare a report. 5 U.S.C. § 1213(c) and (g).

Army Regulation 20-1 (AR 20-1) provides the procedure necessary to ensure fair and efficient investigations into allegations of misconduct. There is little, if any, discretion built into the system. For instance, AR 20-1 ¶ 4-4(c) states that whenever an IG receives an Inspector General Action Request that contains the four elements of an allegation,³ "the IG will use the investigative process detailed in Chapter 8 [emphasis added]." Chapter 8 explains that the investigative process employs two methodologies: an IG investigation and an investigative inquiry. AR 20-1 ¶ 8-1. In addition to the use of these methodologies, AR 20-1 ¶ 8-9(2) requires the IG to use a Preliminary Inquiry or preliminary analysis to determine if there is evidence that supports an allegation of reprisal for whistleblowing.⁴ If the preliminary analysis finds evidence that a personnel action was taken, not taken, or threatened in reprisal for whistleblowing, the IG must advise the Department of the Army Inspector General (DAIG) Assistance Division of the matter within two working days. AR 20-1 ¶ 8-9(2). The whistleblowers allege that despite the comprehensive investigatory process the IG is required to follow, Col. Huggins manipulated and disregarded the provisions of AR 20-1 whenever they might negatively affect his colleagues.

First, Messrs. Mansfield and Robinson allege that Col. Huggins ignored the requirements of AR 20-1 and the substantial and preponderant evidence of reprisal in the case of Sergeant First Class Shacondra Clark. They explain that Dragon Brigade Commander Col. Richard Hooker refused to provide SFC Clark with a Complete the Record Non-Commissioned Officer Evaluative Report (NCOER) in retaliation for requesting assistance from the OIG and reporting contracting improprieties. In explaining his refusal to sign the NCOER that had been prepared by SFC Clark's rater, Col. Hooker stated that SFC Clark had been previously evaluated on the position of Battalion S-4 Noncommissioned Officer in Charge (NCOIC) and could not receive a NCOER on the same position. However, after SFC Clark had been transferred, Col. Hooker provided her with a NCOER, but delayed it in order to edit and downgrade SFC Clark's position from the Brigade S-4 NCOIC to the Battalion S-4 NCOIC. The Battalion S-4 NCOIC position was the same position for which Col. Hooker refused to sign the initial NCOER, stating at the time that SFC Clark had already been rated on the position.

Col. Hooker's issuance of the second NCOER for the Battalion S-4 NCOIC position contradicted his reasons for earlier refusing to sign the Complete the Record NCOER. This inconsistency raised the specter of reprisal for SFC Clark's whistleblower actions. Although both Mr. Mansfield and Mr. Robinson recommended that a whistleblower advisory be submitted to the DAIG, Col. Huggins instead berated Messrs. Mansfield and Robinson for not preventing Col. Hooker from reprising and ordered the case closed as an assistance issue. By ordering the case closed, the whistleblowers contend, Col. Huggins ignored the evidence and violated AR 20-1 which requires that, in the case of whistleblower reprisal, a prior declination be amended to include any new facts, a new declination be drafted, or a whistleblower advisory be submitted to the DAIG. AR 20-1 ¶ 8-10(c)(4). Messrs. Mansfield and Robinson allege that

³ The four elements of an allegation as stated in AR 20-1 ¶ 4-4(c) are: 1. Who? 2. Improperly? 3. Did or did not do what? 4. The violation of what standard?

⁴ Reprisal for whistleblowing occurs when a personnel action is taken, not taken, or threatened to be taken or not taken in reprisal for communicating information that the disclosing individual reasonably believes constitutes evidence of a violation of law or regulation, gross mismanagement, a gross waste of funds, an abuse of authority, or a substantial and specific danger to public health and safety. (See 10 U.S.C. § 1034; see also 5 U.S.C. 2302(b)(8)).

Col. Huggins ordered the case closed in order to protect the Dragon Brigade Commander, Col. Hooker.

Similarly, Mr. Robinson alleges that when Sergeant First Class Amelia Wilson informed the OIG and Command Sergeant Major James Jordan that her Unit First Sergeant was mistreating her, Command Sergeant Major Jordan insinuated that he could have her transferred in reprisal for her disclosure of this allegation. Instead of treating this matter as a possible whistleblower reprisal and investigating the matter consistent with the requirements of AR 20-1, Col. Huggins directed Mr. Robinson to speak with Command Sergeant Major Jordan about the Whistleblower Protection Act and the right of every individual to register a complaint with the Inspector General.

Mr. Robinson also alleges that Col. Huggins delayed an investigation into Battalion Commander Lieutenant Col. J. Thomas's alleged physical assault of Staff Sergeant Victoria Perez and his inappropriate relationship with a female Staff Sergeant. Mr. Robinson explains that when SSG Perez informed the OIG of these allegations, Col. Huggins was reluctant to order an investigation, even though a preliminary analysis uncovered sufficient evidence to warrant further investigation. After some delay, he signed the request for a Commander's Inquiry. According to Mr. Robinson, the Commander's Inquiry substantiated the allegations that LTC Thomas had engaged in an improper relationship with a female Staff Sergeant. As a result, LTC Thomas was forced to retire.

Although Col. Huggins eventually agreed to an investigation of LTC Thomas, Mr. Robinson explains that the preliminary analysis into SSG Perez's allegations also provided sufficient evidence to warrant an investigation into the allegation that 35th Signal Brigade Commander Col. Brian Ellis had prior knowledge of LTC Thomas's misconduct and covered up SSG Perez's complaint. The recommendation to Col. Huggins that he order an investigation into Col. Ellis's behavior went unheeded. Mr. Robinson maintains that this failure to take action in light of the evidence of wrongdoing on Col. Ellis's part further indicates that Col. Huggins routinely abuses his authority in order to protect his colleagues.

In addition to this incident, Mr. Robinson also alleges that Col. Huggins delayed investigating a report that Lieutenant Col. Chuck Gabrielson, Commander of the 327th Signal Battalion, had condoned the consumption of alcohol while deployed in Louisiana. When presented with a request for a Commander's Inquiry, Col. Huggins was reluctant to sign the request, stating that he did not want to burden units while they were preparing for deployment. Mr. Robinson asserts that Col. Huggins was attempting to protect LTC Gabrielson.

I have concluded that there is a substantial likelihood that the information Messrs. Mansfield and Robinson provided to OSC discloses violations of law, rule, or regulation and abuse of authority. As previously stated, I am referring this information to you for an investigation of Messrs. Mansfield's and Robinson's allegations and a report of your findings within 60 days of your receipt of this letter. By law, the report must be reviewed and signed by you personally. Should you delegate your authority to review and sign the report to the Inspector General, or any other official, the delegation must be specifically stated and must include the authority to take the actions necessary under 5 U.S.C. § 1213(d)(5). Without this information, I would hasten to add that the report may be found deficient. The requirements of the report are set forth at 5 U.S.C. § 1213(c) and (d). A summary of § 1213(d) is enclosed. As a matter of policy, OSC also requires that your investigators interview the whistleblower as part of the agency investigation whenever the whistleblower consents to the disclosure of his or her name.

In the event it is not possible to report on the matter within the 60-day time limit under the statute, you may request in writing an extension of time not to exceed 60 days. Please be advised that an extension of time is normally not granted automatically, but only upon a showing of good cause. Accordingly, in the written request for an extension of time, please state specifically the reasons the additional time is needed. Any additional requests for an extension of time must be personally approved by me.

After making the determinations required by 5 U.S.C. § 1213(e)(2), copies of the report, along with any comments on the report from the person making the disclosure and any comments or recommendations by this office, will be sent to the President and the appropriate oversight committees in the Senate and House of Representatives. 5 U.S.C. § 1213(e)(3).

Unless classified or prohibited from release by law or by Executive order requiring that information be kept secret in the interest of national defense or the conduct of foreign affairs, a copy of the report and any comments will be placed in a public file in accordance with 5 U.S.C. § 1219(a).

Please refer to our file numbers in any correspondence on this matter. If you need further information, please contact Catherine A. McMullen, Chief, Disclosure Unit, at (202) 254-3604. I am also available for any questions you may have.

Sincerely,

Scott J. Bloch
